Innovation and market leadership Innovation is the heartbeat of the AltusGroup® mission and vision. We strive for innovation powered by collaboration, leading the precast concrete industry in new materials, products, systems and processes. We have invested more than $2 million in independent research on our products and technologies. We never stop learning.

Co-opetition We bring together the precast industry's best and brightest to brainstorm advancements and solve problems for the collective good. We cooperate to develop and market the next generation of precast technologies, then compete with one another in the marketplace.

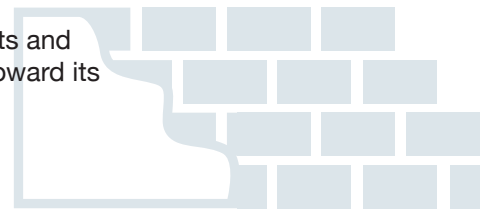

Agility AltusGroup members and partners do not simply react. We look toward the future and act upon it. We are a small, focused enterprise structured to act quickly and decisively. By spreading risk and investment among our partners, AltusGroup can rapidly adapt to dynamic market conditions.
